

CAUGHT BY THE CONDUCTOR.

AN ITALIAN MURDERER NABBED AT THE GRAND CENTRAL STATION.

Alfred La Fayette learns of Antonio Pitrizzo's presence on a New Haven train and puts him under guard—The murderer's attempt to escape—A New York Detective puts him under arrest.

STAMFORD, Conn., May 5.—Antonio Pitrizzo, an Italian, shot and killed another Italian named Joseph Biagetto last evening, with a British bulldog revolver. He immediately took train for New York, but was captured at the Grand Central Station on his arrival. Italians here are very much excited over the affair.

To Alfred La Fayette, a conductor on the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad, belongs the credit of Pitrizzo's capture. When the 9 o'clock train for New York arrived at Stamford a man at the station saw the Italian get on it, and told the fact to Conductor La Fayette, together with his suspicion that the fellow was the one wanted for killing Biagetto.

Conductor La Fayette put a guard on Pitrizzo, and when he and when he stopped at Mount Vernon a telegram was awaiting him, asking for Pitrizzo's arrest. No officer could be found at Mount Vernon, and Conductor La Fayette stationed a man at each door of the car which contained the Italian, and started for New York.

Pitrizzo became suspicious, and two or three times attempted to get out of the car, but was held back. Once he manifested a strong inclination to jump out of the car window. His eyes glared like fire as he put his hand to the car window, and in another minute he would have been dashed to pieces on the track, but the guard who was near him grabbed him by his coat and pulled him back. A closer guard was kept over him after that.

At the Grand Central Station Pitrizzo was turned over to Detective McArdle, who took him to the Twenty-third Sub-Station Station-House. At 11.15 o'clock last night Sheriff Boister came to the station-house, bringing with him a boy who saw the shooting affair and identified Pitrizzo as the man who killed Biagetto.

Washing Compound. Those who use it like it, and tell their friends. Over one million families now use it. The sale increases—each month shows decided gains. Do you know the truth? PEARLINE washes clothes, coarse or fine—dishes—paint—everything—in half the time, with half the labor, and better than anything else known. As it saves the worst of the rubbing, so it saves the worst of the wear; your clothes and paint last longer and look better, if washed with PEARLINE. Harmless to fabric or hands, and economical. There is nothing else like PEARLINE.

Beware of imitations being peddled or sold by means of prizes—they are dangerous—such means are not necessary to sell a good article. Pearlina is manufactured only by JAMES PYLE, New York.

JERSEY CITY NEWS

Forty Thousand Dollars' Worth of Property Goes Up in Flames and Smoke.

More than $40,000 went up in flames and smoke in Jersey City this morning. The fire broke out at 4 o'clock in the cooage of Heidt & Brother, a five-story timber box at 30 and 32 Hudson street, on the river front, and speedily spread to a large pattern store-house adjoining owned by Theodore Smith & Brothers, iron workers.

The barrel staves made the total destruction of the cooage easy work for the flames, which lit up the river and bay. The firemen were no match for them, and confined their efforts to saving the great factories and warehouses in the vicinity.

The boiler works of Mallory & Co. and those of McLoughlin & Co., on Essex street, were also totally destroyed. The loss of Heidt & Brother is $12,000, insured for $5,000. Smith's loss is $18,000, with $6,300 of insurance. The Boylan saloon adds $5,000 to the loss. There was no insurance except on the stock and fixtures. The loss of the other boiler-makers will reach $7,000, partially insured.

The cause of the fire is unknown. Two weeks ago two hundred of Smith's employees were on a bitter strike. Mr. Smith does not believe any of them guilty of arson. Policeman Flannely, who rushed into the burning saloon to save Mrs. Boylan, was struck by a falling chimney as he came out and was slightly injured.

To-morrow to Be a Very Blue Sunday. Chief of Police Murphy announces that he will strictly enforce the sections of the new Liquor law relating to Sunday selling to-morrow. Every saloon-keeper even suspected of selling will be promptly arrested.

Jersey City Jettings. The "Hart and 'Patsy' Koochford, two leaders of the notorious "Red Tiger" gang, were committed for trial by Justice-Isidor this morning on several charges of theft, one of highway robbery and another of assaulting Policemen Mann and Barry, who arrested them.

BROOKLYN NEWS. Young Mr. Broderick Held for Trial on a Very Serious Charge. L. Broderick, a young man living at 362 Hicks street, Brooklyn, was held for examination in Brooklyn this morning for throwing a ball of paper at James Owen O'Connor on the stage of the Academy of Music last night. After Broderick threw the paper the performance was more interrupted than over.

Brooklyn Breivites. Frank Clark's cooper's shop, at 161 and 163 Dikeman street, Brooklyn, was damaged $900 by fire this morning.

Samuel P. Helman, an engineer in Huber's Greenpoint Brewery, had his hand terribly crushed in the machinery this morning.

Frank Hildentide, of 96 McKittrick street, Brooklyn, during a row last night struck Charles Bremer over the head with a chair, causing a severe scalp wound. Hildentide was arrested and held to answer.

Another Big Four-Master. The big four-master Nova Scotia ship John M. Blakie, Capt. Pau Koser, arrived at this port from Hong Kong this morning and anchored at Stapleton. She is the first four-master Nova Scotia vessel that ever entered this port. Her cargo of 3,000 tons of hemp is consigned to Scannell Bros., of this city.

Peel-wellers Held for Trial. In the Jefferson Market Police court this morning Charles Walsh, of 39 West Twenty-eighth street; James Reynolds, of Twenty-eighth street and Sixth avenue, and James Wilson, of 18 West Twenty-ninth street, were held for trial in $500 bail each for selling ponds on horse races.

MRS. LANGTRY AS LENA DESPARD.

Although it may not at once be apparent to the thousands who nightly witness Mrs. Langtry in her new role of Lena Despard at the Fifth Avenue Theatre, it is none the less true that her portrayal of that character is very instructive and will do much to call public attention to the danger of the now prevalent practice of the habitual use of narcotics, such as alcohol and opium, to produce sleep and calm the nerves.

This feature of the play is made more noticeable by the palpable absurdity of her representation of the manner in which alcohol produces death. Dramatic, like poetic license, is responsible for some very idiotic things, and some very silly and untruthful ones, but none more so than the death of Lena Despard as rendered by Mrs. Langtry. An overdose of alcohol puts the victim to sleep, this quiet sleep deepening into coma or absolute unconsciousness, in which condition the feeble flame of life dies out. There is no screaming, tumbling, dress-rendering or frantic convulsive action of any kind, such as she shows.

But, presumably, this glaring dramatic blunder will do good by emphasizing the fact of death, and fixing in the public mind the terrible dangers of using such narcotics to calm the nerves or produce sleep. The more so at this day when every intelligent man and woman should know that Nature herself has given to the world a certain, yet harmless, means for obtaining the same result. Sleeplessness, neuritis, headache, paralysis, brain and nerve exhaustion may all be relieved and cured by Dr. Buckland's Essence of Scotch Oats, as any eminent physician will testify. Do you doubt it? Send to No. 100 Fulton street and read for yourself—the value both of the people and the profession (medical and dramatic) as to what Scotch Oats Essence has already done for thousands of exhausted and nervous people—the book on "Brain and Nerves" free to all. The eminent divine who preaches to you to-day, the good physician who treats you when ill, the lawyer who pleads and the judge who decides your case, are, even the newsmen who have furnished you this paper, and the writers who have labored all night to fill its columns, will do to testify that as a brain food and nerve tonic, simple, harmless and effective, fresh from Nature's laboratory, Dr. Buckland's Scotch Oats Essence (No. 1) is the best and only remedy of its kind.

Finally, beware of the nostrums known as nerve tonics, nervines, &c., that are only solutions of opium or alcohol. Send for a book if you are weak, nervous, exhausted by overwork, subject to headache, neuritis, or have a friend who is in an opium habit or an immoderate Scotch Oats Essence Company, 100 Fulton street, New York.

An certain reports have been in circulation for some time past, culminating in anonymous and malicious libels in several papers, the Scotch Oats Essence Co. (for the assurance of their customers) from the first moment they heard of these reports began to place upon each bottle of Scotch Oats Essence a $10,000 forfeit guarantee that there was not a particle of any opiate or other narcotic in it, sworn to under oath, and every bottle manufactured by the Company after April 15, 1888, will have this guarantee on its pastboard wrapper.
